It is rather a novel sight to see a lawver the detendant in a case and mulcted heavily in the matter of damages. Such a case occurred in Brooklyn. Mr. Lawton's client lost $1,340,70 by the wrong counsel given him. He didn't mind the seventy cents, but the other amount troubled him, so a suit for damages was commenced and the end was when the jury awarded $1.000 damages This award was crebled under the law providing a three fold penalty where a lawyer deceives his client. The case is without a parallel.

Doctors and Women All Crazy. In the Vanderbilt will case Dr. Dixon was examined as an expert. A hypothetical question was put to him. As printed in the New York Herald it consists of forty-six lines of the smallest type ever used on newspapers. The sentence is a marvel of composition. Dr. Dixon's reply was not less a marvel, but of brevity. It was the one word-"Insane," Yet, Dr. Dixon, expert as he was, appeared to be some what "rattled" by that query, as is shown by his subsequent cross-examination.

The Doctor persisted that, with the symptoms disclosed, Vanderbilt must have been insane, but when asked the direct question: "Would the fact that a man had the bad taste to declare himself better than others employed in the same pursuits with himself prove him to be insane?" he answered: "It would, to a degree." By a gradual process of logical deduction Dr. Dixon was brought to the statement, that according to this theory, fully 80 per cent of the medical faculty are insane, and that he so believed. This is sad testimony, but it is in the profession. The Doctor declined to say whether he belonged to the 80 or the 20 per cent. But he was pressed even further than this. Counselor Clinton, who conducted the cross-examination, was mar-

Think of the crazy wives in this land! But as has long ago been remarked, "every cloud has its silver lining." The season is changing, and the conscientious father or husband will not forget that the yearning for a winter bonnet is but a phase of the most violent and distressing insanity, which it is his duty to instantly and

What Concerns North Carolina.

(1) A good history of the State. R. B. Creacy, of the Elizabeth City Economist, an intelligent journalist and clever writer, is collecting material for "A Child's History of the tate." Mr. John W. Moore, of Hertford county, a very engaging writer, is writing a general history of the State. As the Albamarle Enquirer remarks, "the children of the State should be required to read more of their native State, and a better knowledge of it would not be unadvantageous to the older citizens in her limits. It is a matter of congratulation that such able pens are now employed in writing our history, and the people of the State should do all in their power to aid them in this good work."

(2) A good public school system. This the State must have, or accept the humiliating position assigned it by the Pee Dee Herald: "Let us have educational advantages or let the whole thing go to the demonstration of the fact that North Carolina is forever to remain far behind all her sister States in M. De Fourton, having been unseated, the education of ber children. Let the farcical and silly thing now in existence be totally abolished, and the tax payers relieved of a most heavy burden, or let the Legislature give the people a quid pro quo in the shape of a school law, commensurate with what they now have to pay for a gross failure and absurd pretence, known as 'free schools."

(3) Low taxes and economy in the administration of the State government. It is the opinion of Mr. Yates, the oldest editor in the State, that true economy consists not in cutting down salaries but in abolishing "useless offices. The Democrat would abolish the office of State Auditor, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Adjutant General; several Clerkships in the Capitol; instead of a salaried officer for Keeper of the Capitol, a day laborer at fair daily wages; four men to do the work of doorkeeping for both Houses of the Legislature. Stop work on the magnificert Asylums that are in course of factory, located on the Philadelphia construction at Goldsboro and Morganton, sell the material and land, and add ty thousand dollars. a wing to the Asylum at Raleigh, and save in that way several hundred thousand dollars in cost of buildings, and many thousands hereafter in salaries for Asylum officers "

O'dara's Contest.

The mandamus sued out by O'Hara in the 2nd District, was heard before Judge Seymour at Newbern last Thursday. The Newbernian says:

Both O'Hara and Capt. Kitchin were in attendance. The former was represented by Messrs. Fred. Phillips of Parboro, W. H. Day of Halifax, and Messrs. Green & Slevenson of our city; the latter by Spier Whitaker, Esq., of Halifax, and Judge Clarke and C. C. Clark and H. R. Bryan, Esqrs., of our city. Great interest was shown in the matter, and the Court House was crowded. It appeared that the sums mons had not been properly served, and that the original complaint in the matter was not before the ('ourt; whereupon the Court adjourned the cause to Friday morning to determine whether to dismiss the proceedings, or to stay them until such service as the law requires, can be made. On Friday morning Judge Seymour declared his decision that the case be dismissed.

This necessitates, in any event, a delay of about two weeks, and we know of no impediment, as matters now stand, to Capt. Kitchin's receiving the certificate of election, leaving to O'Hara the right to contest his seat at Washngton City. We rather think the tawny gentleman from the West Indies will not represent the Second district in Congress.

Contested Election. Special to the News.

HALIFAX, N. C., Nov. 28. The Mandamus proceedings of the contested election case of O'Hars and Kitchen were discussed at Newbern on Thursday, by Judge Seymour. New proceedings in four counties were in stituted by O'Hara to-day.

Baltimore Bankers and Secretary Sherman.

By Telegraph to the News. WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 23 .- A committee of bankers from the Balti more Clearing House Association called on Secretary Sherman this afternoon in relation to the resumption act, and what action is expected to be adopted by the Baltimore banks in aiding and co-operating in the resumption by the Government of specie payments on January first next. After replying to a number of questions submitted by the committee, the Secretary said in conclusion: "My general answer, therefore, to you is that the United States will maintain its notes at par in coin in all parts of the United States and will do so by redemption of such notes as are presented to the Assistant Treasurer at New York, and by receipt of United States notes for both customs, duties and bonds. I think this can be done without change of the law. But The Treasurer will treat United States notes and coin as exact equivalents in all transactions with the Government and then all business everywhere in the States will adapt itself to the same Dr. Dixon went on to say that Julius standard. Having stated this much, frank with you I may have broached

English Ministerial Crisis.

By Cable to the News. LONDON, Nov. 23.-The Cabinet Council yesterday was the scene of a severer conflict between ministers of the different shades of opinion than had taken place since the departure of Lord Derby from the ministry. It was whispered three weeks ago that differences of opinion were arising on the Afghan question. The issue of the u timation is now believed to have been the result of a compromise for the purpose of conciliating the more pacific section of the Cabinet. There was at the same time a rumor of an intention to summon Parliament, so as to meet the scruples of some of the ministers on constitutiol question involved. Tuat party to-day carried its object.

Russia's Deep Laid Plans.

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—The National Zeitung says respecting the policy of the Russian Government in regard to the war in Alghanistan: "Rus-sia being satisfied that the war must result in a British victory, does not contemplate intervention or interference while hostilities last, but intends to claim a voice in the settlement of the terms of peace. It bases its claims upon the announcement that the ratification of the Indo-Afghan frontier is proposed, which the Government of the Czar is not prepared to submit to without previous understanding between England and Russia. Russia will not consent to the annexation or des ruction of Afghanistan, nor to the perma nent acquisition by England of posi-tions commanding the passes of the Balkh. It is with a view to making its voice heard at the conclusion of the war that Russia has ordered Col. Lomakine to push on with his troops now stationed at Attrek to Marghab and that the contingent now stationed at Samarcand has been directed to continue its march.

RED MOUNTAIN. Nov. 20th, 1878.

Good Sense on the "record Advent." That excellent and able religious monthly, the Sunday Afternoon, treats the question of the person-al coming of the Lord, on earth, with a degree of good sense that has not been surpassed during the recent controversy. It says: In the second place, the notion that the physical presence of the Lord in the world would be a great reinforcement in carrying on His work; that His spiritual presence is weak and inefficient, and that His kingdom can never be established natil He shall be here in the flesh, so that a few of all thn multitudes of men may see Him with their eyes and hear His commands with their ears-this notion seems to us childish and unworthy. The explicit word of our Lord himself-"It is expedient for you that I go away" settles this question so far as words of authority can settle it. And the reason on which this word is based is not hard to understand. Christ in the flesh is under the limitations of space and time; He can be in only one place at one time; not one in ten thousand of all the people who dwell upon the earth could ever hope to see Him. His communication with all but very few of his disciples must be at second-hand; and all the errors and wilful misrepresentations that enter into the reports of the sayings of men would surely affect the messages that should be conveyed by Him to His disciples. Imagine the newspapers fighting to get the first news about Him, misunderstanding and misreporting His words, and adding their sapient comments upon them! Moreover, all that would be added to Christianity by the bodily presence of Christ in the world would be such a revelation of Him and of His truth as can come through the senses. Soldiers as Lady Killers.

A copy of the illustrated Police Gazette has been sent the NEWS, which contains a lengthy account of the exploits of Redmond the North Carolina whiskey distiller, now an outlaw. The description of the deeds of the 'moonshiner" and his gang is completed by a number of illustrations. A description of Redmond is given which says he is a handsome man, about forty years of age, with fine features, jet black eye, well-trimmed whiskers and long, curling mustache, about six feet in height and of about 160 pounds weight. His tine, sinewy form was clad in a hunting coat made of buckskin, trimmed with yellow fringe, with top-boots, covering a small foot and a shapely leg. In each boot leg there was a revolver, one was in his belt and the holsters to his saddle were supplied also, with them. A large, black Texas hat, with a long white plume gave him a very dashing appearance. The Rhamkatte Fire Eater.

When the circus was here a native of this charming suburban resort came in to see the animals. By some means be found himself under the canvas of the side-show. The principal attraction that drew his attention was the man who ate flaming cotton with a relish. It seemed so simple that the Rhamkatter thought he could do the same thing, and he expressed greatconfidence in his ability to be a fire-eater also. He was cheerfully invited to try some, and walked up to the conjuror's table. He then made a bold grab with his right hand and seized a quantity of the flaming cotton, which, in perfect imitation of the magician's manner, he crammed into his capacious mouth. Before one could wink that great orifice opened, and gave vent to a series of yells which a Sioux Indian might be proud of, while the amateur performer executed the war dance with all the variations. The expressions he used at the same time shocked even the attaches of the circus. Changing their Quarters.

The eastern section of the State is in advance of the western as far as the formation of new companies s concerned. If the State was only able to extend the proper aid to companies, in the way of complete equipments, it would be better, but the exceeding smallness of her quota does not permit.

Bits of Fun.

A Springfield beggar woman, accus tomed to go a daily roun I for broken meats, etc., turns out to be keeping a flourishing boarding house. The feelings of the boarders are not given. One of the members of the Chinese Embassy at Washington was about to touch a buzz saw the other day to see if it was going, when a workman pulled him away and assured him that it was. The Chinaman looked doubtful, however, and only waits another chance.

"det right out of this," shouted an iritated merchant to a mendacious clerk, 'this is the third lie I have caught you in since ten o'clock this morning." 'Oh, well," said the new man, "don't be too hard on me. Give a fellow time to learn the rules of the house."

importance, "I'm the corps' brither !" They were sitting in an open buggy n the cross-road, and bounded on one side by the wood and on the other by an orchard. The first we heard was, "Now stop, Will; you will muss my air." He laughed, and she broke ou with, "You don't love me one bit." The caress he gave her would have made an anaconda turn pile, and as she threw up her head for breath he said, "I'm strong, eh, girl?" "Yes, you are; but I don't think you are as strong as you used to be." And then we felt weak and left them. "What," the young man asked the young woman who was waiting for him to ask for his hat, "what do I put you in mind of?" "A French clock," she said softly. And pretty soon he arose and went on his way. The next mornno he called uno gist and asked him what was the distinguishing trait of a French clock. The horologist said, "Why, it never goes," And the young man was sorely cast down, and he grieved, and told no man of his hurt.

The Truth About Stewart's Corpse.

The developments of the last two or three days tend to establish the belief that the body of A. T. This is probably the meaning of the withdrawal of the reward for the recovery of the body and the doubling of that for the apprehension of the body-snatchers, coupled with Judge Hilton's declaration that he will now concern himself

War Between England and At-

ghanistan. As the English army in Iudia has for the past six weeks been actively preparing for the invasion of Afghanistan, the intelligence by cable to the News of the beginning of actual hostilities is not unexpected. For the information of such of our readers as find it impracticable to devote much attention to the intrigues and political rivalries of semi barbaric Asiatic States, the following exhibit and review of the strength and history of the State against which the English force is directed is made:

British India, with its population of over two hundred million persons, is bounded on the north by the Himalaya Mountains, which separate it from China, Tartary and Thibet, and on the west by the Sulieman Mountains, which divide it from Afghanistan and Beloochistan. : he sea girds the peninsula on its other sides. The Sulieman Mountains rise to a height at one part of eleven thousand feet. The range is some 350 miles long, and near the top is in breadth from eight to fourteen miles. The territory of the Ameer of Afghanistan embraces the greater part of these mountains. Westward of these mountains, however, lies Afghanistan proper, spread out upon one of the loftiest table lands in the world. The Afghanistan of to-day covers 212,000 square miles The population is variously estimated at from five to seven millions. So far as any Western invasion is concerned, the Sulieman range is properly termed the gateway to India, and the fortresses held by the Ameer on the western side may be cons dered as so many sentinels, if he be friendly, or so many advanced guards of the enemy, if he be hostile. The mountains are pierced by two great passes, namely: the Khyber Pass, running parallel with the Cabul River, and connecting Peshawur, a British possession, with Cabul, the capital of the Ameer; the Bolan Pass is toward the southern end, and forms the highway for trade between Scinde and Candahar. To the westward of Afghanistan are the outposts of Asiatic Russia. One after another of the smaller Khanates having submitted to the Czar, he is in a position to threaten or encourage the Ameer. In the early part of this century the most advanced Russian picket was more than a thousand miles beyond the reach of any British soldier in India. To-day if the Ameer be considered an ally of the Czar, Russia is at the gate of India, and those within the territory have been constrained to inquire how they may best protect themselves from an enforced entrance. At present one end of the Khyber Pass is in the hands of the Ameer; the other end is held by the British. The British desire to hold both ends, and this because the Afghan end being much higher than their own, it will be much easier to repel a Russian attack on the western slope than it would be if having secured a footing there, the Muscovite should at his leisure make a descent upon the lower

NEWPORT, KY., April 27, 1877.

So far as the present cause of war is concerned, the case may be summed up in the statement that the Ameer has shown a disposition to enter into an alliance with Russia. He received and still entertains a Russian Ambassador, and he refused to let a British Embassy enter his territory. This the British soldiers and d plomats say, if acquiesced in, would be tantamount to giving Russia an easy opportunity to menace at any time and doubtless overrun at some time, a considerable part of British India. In other words. Afof British India. In other words, Afghanistan must either be a British bulwark or a Russian outpost, and being called upon to choose which, the Ameer has declared for Russia-hence

English leaders are by no means unanimous as to the importance of Afghanistan. Some of them contend that the line at present held by the soldiers of the Queer is impregnable and that it is folly to escablish a new line.

The chief reason assigned by the Ameer for his distrust of the British is their occupation of the fortres of Quettab, which commands the western entrance of the Bolan Pass, and is near the frontier of Afghanistan, and may be said to overshadow Candahar and Herat. This he esteemed an act of menace, to be interpreted no otherwise than as an indication of servitude on his part. To this the British reply that Quettah belongs to the Khanate of Beloochistan, and was acquired by legitimate means.

All minor pretexts are vain in this matter. The real explanation of the war is that the English are preparing to meet Russia some day on the western border of their Indian Empire, and having no confidence in the ruler of Afghanistan they have resolved to put it out of his power to do them any harm by any act of treachery.

The advance now being made through the Suleiman range is the third conducted by the British against the State of Afghanistan. The first took place in 1838, when the Governor General of India was Lord Auckland. The second was in 1848, under General Pollock As to the first expedition the story is one of the most distressing to be found in military annals. Lord Auckland declared war against Dost Mohammed, the then Ameer, on the ground that he had unlawfully attacked Runjeet Singh, a British ally, and that he had exhibited a hostile purpose to the British power; that moreover, he, Dost Mc hammed, was not the lawful heir to the throne, and that the lawful heir, Shah Sujah, had placed himself under British protection. The war opened on gust Candahar and Cabul were in posession of the British forces. Winter, however, came to the rescue of Dost Mohammed, and of sixteen thousand British soldiers just one man returned to Peshawur to tell the story of disaser. Napoleon's retreat from Moscow was nothing to this Next year, however, the war was renewed under General Nott (Lord Ellenborough being Governor General), and he achieved a complete victory. The second war was less varied in its results. Dost Mohammed formed an alliance with the Sikhe of the Punjaub against the British. The contest was decided at Gujerat, on February 21, 1849. The Ameer's and Sikh forces were scattered and Dost Mohammed fled across the Indus. Since then until now Afghanistan has caused the British no trouble, and it is not unsafe to say that there would be no trouble now but for the influence of Russia at Cabul. Concerning the fighting men on either side little need be said. The army of invasion will consist of over thirty thousand effective soldiers. The Ameer is credited with having some hree hundred thousand men in his service. It is to the last degree improbable that the Ameer has as many as one hundred thousand men worthy to be called trained soldiers. That the numerical superiority will count for little against the superior discipline, arms and leadership of the British troops can hardly be questioned.

The bearing of these operations upon the Eastern question as it concerns Europe is obvious enough. Russia seeks te embarrass Eugland in India so that she, Russia, may be free from English embarrassment in Turkey. About this there is no disguise on the part of Russia and in discussing it there is no reserve practiced by English statesmen. It is therefore by no means improbable that the fighting in the Suleiman range of mountains will prove but a prelude to a great war between England and Russia in European and Asiatic Tur-

Brussels net is a new material for evening dresses; it is shown embroidered in leaves of pale drab and orange.

The most stylish visiting cards are very plain, with the name in writing or a fac-simile of the owner's handwriting.

The latest extravagance in stockings is to have them in pale-tinted silk, embroidered in frosted silvery leaves and seed pearls.

A beautiful material for evening dresses is the new jasper silk, which is, in color, a combination of delieate colors and shadings.

A pretty finish for the bottom of an overdress is to cut it in squares and fasten up one edge of the square with a tiny bow of ribbon.

Spanish lace is extremely popular a a trimming for cashmere mantelettes' and much parrow ribbon renders this trimming effective. It is usually gathered, while French lace is side-pleat-

Outside pockets are seen on some of the latest toilets. W th the present style of dress they are almost indispensable, and when not on the dress their place is supplied by the velvet chatelaine pocket.

Fringes are of the most dressy and elaborate kinds. Some have doubly rows of tas-els, with jets and moss tufts intermingled, and others are of lustrous silk as soft as chenille, made like woollen caterpillar fringe.

Demi-trained dresses will no longer be made narrow, pointed and endless, resembling a strip of material accidently trailing after the wearer, but will be round, and will form a continuation of the back breadths. instead of seeming to be attached to them like a false train.

A Railway Temperance Lecture.

"Twenty years ago," said the passenger with the red ribbon in his button hole, "I knew that man whom you saw get off at the last station. He was a young man of rare promise, a college graduate, a man of brilliant intellect and shrewd mercantile ability. Life dawned before him in all the glowing colors of fair promise. He had some money when he left college. He invested it in business and his business prospered. He married a beautiful young girl who bore him three lovely

How the Paut "obbers were Fooled.

San Francisco News Lett r. There was a pointed illustration of the truism that "all's not gold that glitters," up in Grass valley the other day. The cashier of the biggest bank in the place was at work unusually late one evening, when he was seized, gagged, bound hand and foot, and the combination of the safe forced from him at the muzzle of the burglar's revolver. The next morning the watchman opened the bank and untied the wretched official. When the safe was examined, however, the president joyfully announced that in their burry the the dummy rolls pretending to be gold pieces, used to exhibit in the window. The real coin was all safe, and the disgusted cashier was entirely cheated out of his share of the "divvy," beaides in-censing the safe-crackers to such an extent they will in all probability never do business with him again,

Kearney Goes Back on Butler. Boston Herald.

Deuis Kearney left Boston Thursday for San Francisco with his wife, two children and brother. He was seen off by a large crowd, among them Hou. Charles McLane, E. M. Chamberlain and other leaders of the workingmen. Before the train moved he made speech, advising the workingmen to defeat Prince, the Democratic candidate for Mayor and to keep from their ranks all politicians. He goes by way of Albany, Chicago and Omaha. His last words were a denial that he was in any way associated with Butler, or that he ever received money from the latter in any form or manner. As the train moved off he was lustily cheered.

Change of Directors of the W. & W. R, R.

Wilmington Review. J. Don Cameron, ex-Secretary of War under Grant and we hope soon to be ex U. S. Senator also, is no longer a director in the W. & W. R. R., his place having been filled by Mr. T. The attempt upon the life of the King of Italy, following so close upon like attemps in Germany and Spain, appears to have inspired great terror among the crowned heads of Europe. There does not appear to be much ground for this atarm. In each case the attack has been clumsy and gives no evidence of preconcert. A BRIEF HISTORY:

The following is from the Raleigh News, and was a voluntary insertion and not an advertisement: "Years ago an old Indian left a receipt for curing Scrotula with Mrs Person's father. Mrs. Person lives in Franklinton, or in that section. A child was torn to Mrs. Person, and it had the Scrotula. The doctors gave it up to die. She thought of that receipt, that was now old and musty, and hid away in an augstairs grawer. She concluded if the child was bound to die, it wouldn't hort to follow that receipt. She went out and gathered the herb, got the winskey, and did as directed to the child. Her child now lives well and hearty. More than this: Only a few months since a South Carolinian, whose name has slipped us, was suffering with some scrotulous affection on the heel, he had been to the Hot Springs! Arkansas, and from there he went to Kittrell Springs. Notting did him any good. At Kitt ell's they tol. him of Mrs. Person's recipe, and Dr. — wrote to Mrs. Person's recipe, and Dr. — wrote to Mrs. Person's fishe cured that South Carolinian her receipt was worth money. And the south Carolinian sent her word if she cured him he would give her five hondred dollars. She sent him directions what to do, and added if they cured him he could send her twenty-five dollars; she wouldn't ask five hundred. The South Carolinian went home, and shortly afterward sent ars. Person a check for twenty-five dollars, and wrote the most gratefulleter he knew how. Bless those old indians. We would like to have one for a near neighbor." THREE CHILDREN IN THREE WEEKS.

Mks. Joe Person:

Dear Madame—Your letter has been received, and on account of being absent from home for a week or two, have not had the opportunity to answer it. I scertainly will take great pleasure in doing all that is within my power towards getting you patients for treatment of Scioula. I hardly know how to express my grantudato you for canding my three I tile chadren. They took medicine from my family physician for about two years, with scarcely any relief at all. I tried your remedy, and in less than three weeks they were all perfectly cured, and have never shown any sign of breaking out again. I feel very thankful to you. I can safely say that i believe your remedy to be a sertain cure for Sciofula. If I can ever be of any service to you in any way, I want you to be sure and call on me. Yours truly, WM. H. Akalingion. MKS JOE PERSON :

It gives me much pleasure to be able to state that I have derived an effectual cure of Scrofula from the use of Mrs. Joe Person's remedy for that disease. I had suffered from Scrofula from the use of Mrs. Joe Person's remedy for that disease. I had suffered from Scrofula for more than three years, and had despaired of ever getting well. I was treated during that time by three very emine, t physicians, without any good result. I then went to the National Surgical Institute, at Arlants, Ga., and was treated there more than two months, with no better result than my fammy physicians met with. After returned from the Institute I was persuaded to try Mrs. Person's remedy, and I had not used it more than a week before I discovered its Curative and healing properties, My sores soon began to heal, and the color of my skin changed as fast ashe sores healed. I had not though of ever getting well again, but my hopes increased, my low spiritedness fled before the remedy, and I am now emoying splendid health and am in good spirits. The remeay is mild as a purgative, and a strong tonic; it will heal the most stubborn sore in three weeks if taken regularly. It is my opinion that it should be taken some time after the sore is haled, to remove the cause of its effects. It should be taken regularly on all means, for it have sometimes neglected it, from the pressure of business, and for this alone it should be taken regularly until an effectual cure is completed. Nothing should prevent regularity in the use of the remedy and it should be taken at the proper time. I would recommend to all who are suffering from scrofula to try it. It will surely cure you if you give it a fait test. I speak from experience, and not from hearsay. I am a grateful recipient of a cure from the use of it and I am under many and Lasting obligations to Mrs. Person for the great relief I have obtained from its use. Sufferers, try it and be cured, is my advice.

I am, respectfully,

JAMES A. MORRIS. "It will Care if Fairly Tested."

Myreceipt for the cure of Scrafula has been tried by me with the most unprecedented success for the last twelve years, and i have no hesitation in recommending it as a sovereign cure for that diseasy and as a general fonce and Blod furner, it is everywhere giving perfect satisfaction, while my experience with it is too limited for me to specially recommend it for other diseases, I beneve it will ultimately prove to be of benefit in all cases arising from impurity of the blood and probably for other diseases,
